There will be a meeting of the W. C. T. U. in the S. S. room of the Presbyterian church at three o'clock, Wednesday, July 6th.

There seems to be some foundation for the rumor that some iron mining will be done in these parts again soon. It is to be hoped so.

The Methodist folk will be at "Epworth Among the Hills" for the week beginning July 25th. Several hundred visitors are expected.

After a week or more of sweltering weather a rain and thunder storm put in an appearance last Sunday afternoon and afforded a relief from the hot spell. We had rain again most of Monday afternoon and night.

John Tiefenauer has closed his bakery and will remove to his farm near Munger. John is a mighty clever young man and we wish him well.

On our first page we reprint a portion of an article that recently appeared in the St. Louis Times. The concluding part will be published next week.

The manager of the local phone asks us to state that central will be closed from one until five o'clock in the afternoon of July 4th. The employees want that much of a holiday.

Lost—Wednesday evening, June 22, somewhere on the streets of Ironton, a gold locket and chain. Finder will please return to this office and receive reward.

Mr. G. W. Collins and family will move next week to their farm on Crane Pond to make their future home. Mr. Collins has leased his Ironton residence for a year to a Mr. Miller, of Omaha.

W. C. Perkins has vacated the property he has so long occupied on north Main street. Mr. Dills, the owner of the property, and his daughters will be here soon and live in the place for the summer.

The temperance meeting at the court house last Friday night was quite a "frolic." If the speaker was as careless in his statements as we are told he was most of what he said was enough to disgust all right-thinking people.

City Marshal G. W. Marshall and wife came grandparents last Friday, June 24th, 1910. A son was born to their daughter, Ada, wife of C. B. Stone, Foreman of T. & B. V. R.'s shops in Teague, Texas. Congratulations to all.

Last Monday the Ironton School Board took up and destroyed one $500 bond—said bond falling due the 30th of this month. The bond was burned in the presence of two witnesses (not members of the board), and all the red tape of the law was duly honored in observance.

Albert Jones last week returned to his home in Arcadia, after an absence of a couple of weeks in Jefferson Hospital, St. Louis, where he underwent a surgical operation. Mr. Jones has been in poor health for a year past, and his friends hope to see him greatly benefited by the operation.

"Billy" Martin, for over forty years agent for the railroad company at Ironton, died Tuesday of this week. This leaves our old friend, faithful Cy DeMier, at Arcadia, the oldest agent in point of service on the Iron Mountain railroad. Mr. DeMier has been at Arcadia about thirty-five years.

Rev. W. W. Strother of Des Arcs has been named as the seventh vice-president of the Southern Holiness Association. As the association embraces a great scope of country, Mr. Strother tells us that a special car will transport the Iron county people to the next meeting of the association at Little Rock in October.

A colored delegation visited Ironton last Saturday seeking a location for an institution to be used as a home for incorrigible colored females of the state. The last legislature, it seems, appropriated $20,000 for the purpose. Several times, it is said, that struck the fancy of the visitors were found here. We do not want any such institution in the valley, however.

Dr. J. H. Martin of Pilot Knob has been appointed Local Registrar of Vital Statistics for Iron Township and all that part of Arcadia Township not embraced in the Ironton precinct. All births and deaths must be reported to him promptly—in fact, burial can not be legally had without his certificate first obtained. In some cases the law works a hardship of which more hereafter.

Mr. Louis Favez, in charge of Mr. Lewis' "Ozark Home," last week brought to this office a bunch of wheat grown on that place. The stalks are over five feet high, and the heads are well filled with large, perfect grain. Two varieties are represented: About six acres have been grown this year, the yield being generous, on soil not naturally adapted to grain. The advantages attending proper and careful cultivation are made manifest in the product.

Hon. E. T. Eversole of Washington county is a candidate for Judge of this circuit, and asks the support of his fellow-Democrats toward that position. He is well known as an upright man and citizen, a lawyer of pronounced ability, and an unwavering Democrat—a trio in one which leaves no room for further commendation. Mr. E. has served his country in the Legislature, making a clean and enviable record. His fitness in every way for the office to which he now aspires is unquestioned. As a Judge he would be moved by neither fear nor favor. The REGISTER therefore heartily commends his candidacy to the consideration of the voters.

A large and harmonious meeting for the purpose of forming a Commercial or Business Club was held in the Academy of Music last Friday evening. At 8 o'clock the assemblage was called to order by Dr. R. W. Gay, who, on motion, was made chairman for the evening, and R. Lee Barger was elected Secretary. By request of the chair, Mr. Minor York stated the object and purposes of the meeting. Then, after a few scattering remarks by various persons, on motion the chair appointed two committees looking toward permanent organization: one on by-laws and the other to nominate officers for the club. The chair appointed on By-Laws: W. J. Lee, R. L. Barger and C. P. Damron; on Nominations: Wm. Trauernicht, C. J. Tual, F. O. Codding and J. L. Baldwin. The meeting then adjourned to Thursday evening, June 30th, when the reports of the committees will be heard and acted upon.

A party of men who are interested in the proposed pipe line which was recently surveyed through this county and which extends from the gas fields of Louisiana, to St. Louis, a distance of more than 500 miles, stayed over Friday night in Centerville, departing next morning for Potosi. The promoters of this pipe line, if that is what it is, are doing very little talking, but enough was learned to warrant us in stating that some of those in the party were contractors who were viewing the character of the country and otherwise familiarizing themselves with the survey preparatory to accepting contracts for laying the line. It was also learned that they have secured the names of the record owners of all the land through which the survey runs, in this state, at least, except in Carter county, so that the acquiring of a right of way can be taken up at any time. The survey passes through the following counties in this state: Oregon, Carter, Reynolds, Iron, Washington, Jefferson and St. Louis.—Centerville Outlook.

The following is taken from Monday's St. Louis Republic: "A squad of twenty-five boys will leave St. Louis to-morrow morning for the Y. M. C. A. boy's camp at Ironton, Mo. The camp will be under the leadership of C. A. McLaughlin, boy's work director of the Central Y. M. C. A. Mr. McLaughlin, who has led many similar outings, is enthusiastic about the coming camp. The tents will be pitched on Stout's Creek, a mile and a half from Ironton. This morning Mr. McLaughlin and four assistants will leave for Ironton to put things in shape for the main body of campers. Camp will be broken July 7th. An extensive programme of "hikes," explorations of caves and fishing trips has been mapped and the boys will be on the go from 6:30 A. M., when the rising call will sound, until 9:30 P. M., when all lights will be extinguished. A large swimming pool will be made by damming Stout's Creek. Besides the other amusements a big fireworks display has been planned for the fourth. The Y. M. C. A. officials will make the camp an annual affair if this year's outing is a success."

Why is it that your professional, itinerant "temperance" lecturer is not content with presenting his side of the case coolly, logically and dispassionately? Does he hold that he can honestly earn his pay only by indulging in extravagance, personality and vituperation? He usually treats his listeners with a lot of shop-worn, moth-eaten, anecdote, and appeals to their sense of self-righteousness rather than the humility and self-acquiescence that uplift all men in charity with their neighbors. He comes into a strange community with no personal knowledge of the character, life and daily walk of the men and women composing it, and insolently denounces them for the relations they hold to one another—striving to set them by the ears—all in the name of God and morality. Professing to serve Him of Nazareth, he is not content with His precept and example, but adds thereto, and sends into everlasting Hades those of us who do not bow down in obedience to his man-made addendum. We had one of those traveling gentry here last week—a soi-disant Episcopal clergyman. By local request the REGISTER gave due notice of his coming: gave it freely and cheerfully, "without money and without price." In return, he in effect told his audience that "decent temperance people" should taboo this paper because, forsooth, it carries an advertisement of Budweiser beer! Broad-minded wasn't it? This paper might stand for a thousand commendable objects—give cheer to the sorrowing, strength to the faltering, good counsel to the doubting, uphold honor and honesty in men and women—but our temperance (?) advocate would sweep all aside to make room for the one thing he is paid for advocating, just as I am paid for publishing the Budweiser beer advertisement. I believe in temperance in all things—have tried for a good many years to live the belief—but have rarely encountered a salaried, traveling prohibition evangelist possessed of that virtue sufficiently to bridle his tongue from intolerant statement and intemperate denunciation.

Judge Dearing, candidate for circuit judge, called on us last week. The judge will make a good race down here. The fight I think, will be between him and Sam Byrns. Sam Byrns is a very brilliant lawyer and would, no doubt, make a fine judge, and that should have a great deal to do with selecting our officers. We should not vote for any man if he is not competent to fill an office, even if he is a good fellow.

The smallpox are getting into our settlement. One case at Brunot, and some new cases at Piedmont. They are coming back every day from Flat River and the first thing we will have it all over the county. Strict quarantine should be enforced.

The railroad company unloaded five cars of Texas cattle here last week; the boys turned them out to get water and they had a time getting them back. They also unloaded four cars at Annapolis and two of them died.

Mrs. F. M. Semands and daughter, of Poplar Bluff, are visiting friends here.

Mrs. W. J. Fitz spent part of last week with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Jones, at Brunot.

Miss Ethel Morris has returned to her home in Farmington.

Miss Etta Keathley went to Ironton last week to attend the teachers' examinations.

Dr. F. E. Farr spent Sunday here with his family.

Miss Edna McClendon is visiting relatives here.

Wm. Keathley, wife and baby, of Leeper, spent last week here with relatives.

John Nation and Gene and Sam Fitz played ball at Leeper Sunday.

Rev. W. W. Strother, wife and daughter, and Misses Lina Farr and Ora Lovelace are conducting a tent meeting in Ironton.

Mrs. John Howard spent Sunday at Piedmont with relatives.

Annapolis News.

Hon. E. M. Dearing from Potosi, candidate for circuit judge, called on the Annapolis people last week.

Also James Lewis, candidate for presiding judge, Wm. Stevenson, candidate for judge of the southern district, was here putting in a phone for D. A. Worley. Other candidates who called were Redmond Black and E. L. Barnhouse for collector. And that's about all. No fight over circuit and the county clerk. That's right; when you have good men in, just keep them there.

John S. Benson was in our town last Saturday night on legal business, and went back to St. Louis the next day.

Marion Fox and Maggie Eldridge were united in matrimony at Boss Gray's, five miles south of Annapolis, June 19, 1910, at 12:30 A. M., Squire Kitchell officiating, and he says that was the hardest fox to catch he ever tried.

The 4th of July is drawing near, and picknickers are preparing for business. Several from here will go to Arcadia.

Squire Kitchell is now located in the new store house and is serving ice cream Saturday and Sunday.

A. J. Hurrell is in town to-day with a load of railroad ties.

Two o'clock Monday and it is raining hard.

Lou T. Webb came up from Ellington yesterday and moved out more of her household belongings. Going to Rose Hill, in Reynolds county.

Drew Loyd of Leeper is visiting his father, Lemuel Loyd, and family.

Gus Funk is loading out two cars of switch ties to-day.

G. W. Hampton is still in town. He is painting Mrs. Munro Slusher's house.

Mrs. Dicy Kitchell has been quite sick, but is improving.
